A MYSTERIOUS MURDER. The Body Found near Patterson

Station. Last Saturday Joe Travis was hunting some horses which had gone astray, at Patterson, one of the eating stations on the stage route - between this place and

Hamilton, and distant from here between 60 and 70 miles. As he was riding about in the sage brush he saw a man's hand, on the ground, and immediately surmised that the rest of the body was somewhere in the vicinity. Upon digging up the ground a little, the putrified body of a man who had evidently been murdered was disclosed to view. The body was apparently that of a young man of medium hight, with light sandy hair. A hole had been made in the skull over the left eye, and the man had been buried with all his clothing on except his hoots. This leads to an alexcept his boots. This leads to an almost perfect certainty that the man was

The first parts of the body which attracted attention were the skull and one of the hands, which had been dug up from the shallow grave by the coyotes. Upon searching further the rest of the remains were found. They were collected and buried again, deep enough to keep the coyotes from digging them up. For the above facts, thanks to Mr. Taystage driver, between this place and itizens of Pioche had been congratulating each other on the freedom of our own from wind and dust. Yesterday, however, there was enough dust borne down the streets to make a dozen days extremely disagreeable if it had been parcaled out properly. At times a mass of dust would whirl down the street, obscuring everything for a moment, and then leaving everybody wiping his eyes, and blessing (?) the wind. Hats, barer. Some people set their teeth, and compressed their lips and faced the wind compressed their lips and faced the wind spatefully; others turned half round, and tried to go through it sidewise; a few stooped down and tried to drive through it; and some with a sort of desperation, wriggled, and made long steps, then stooped and turned round and pulled their hats down over their eyes and kicked backward at some poor innocent neces of shingle which tickled their piece of shingle which tickled their cabasas. People ate dust at their dinners, and drank dust after their dinners. smokers smoked dust, and chewers chewed dust. They went to bed breathing dust, and choking with it, and there is not the least doubt but that many of them are at the time of this writing, swimming, flying, rolling and tumbling in a monster hurricane of dust in their

THE LECTURE ON WATER .- Whether or or not the subject was a disagreeable one to the inhabitants of Pieche, we cannot tell; but certain it is that the audience which went to hear the lecture on water last night at Hanley's Hall was a small one, not even, we should judge, large enough to pay half the expense incurred in prepairing the apparatus, and getting the materials for the lecture. The lecthe materials for the lecture. The lec-ture was not given by two ex-students of Santa Chara College; but by one, Mr. Frank Wayatt, who did it in a very good style indeed. He was ably assisted in his experiments by Mr. Levin, Jr. Want of space forbids us from giving even a synopsis of the entertainment. It was not patronized as well at deserved, either for its own merits, or for the cause in for its own merits, or for the cause in which it was given, the relief of the Memphis and Shreveport sufferers, and the fencing in of the Catholic burying ground. We heard it remarked that if Wyatt had given a lecture on a stronger liquid—best for instruced between lquid—beer, for instance—he would have drawn a splendid house. However, he will give another on the same subject, on the 5th of next month, by which time it is to be hoped our citizens will have thought better of water, and of charity.

DEPARTURE. - Henry Phillips left Pioche yesterday morning, by the Hamilton stage. He is going to San Francisco to make such arrangements as will enable him to bring water into this place from Highland. The enterprise which Mr. Phillips has undertaken is a praiseworthy one, and it is sincerely hoped that success will attend his CAROLINE. - Captain Hardy informs us that he has received a telegram from the President of the Caroline Silver Mining Company, stating that Col. Raymond on yesterday deeded all his right, title and interest in that lode to the Caroline Company. This will put a stop to all litigation.

PROPOSALS FOR CARRYING THE MAIL. We publish this morning, by authority of the Postmaster General, proposals for carrying the mail from various points in this State, together with all the forms and instructions required by bidders. Routes 45,126, 45,127 and 45,135 con-nect Pica. nect Pioche with other points.

We know that Mr. Curus under-stands the business of the office, and be-lieve that a more worthy man for the position could not have been selected.

FINED.-John Rowdy and Chas. Graham came up before Justice Van Hagen yesterday. The former on a charge of drunk and disorderly and the latter on that of assault and battery. Twenty dollars was the price set for getting drunk, and forty for fighting.

DISTRICT COURT.-Yesterday the first case of K. J. Hanley, indicted for stealing and embezzling county money, came up for trial. A jury was obtained, and the trial was commenced in the after-
